

JAKE ALTON JARES

jjares@stanford.edu

<https://jakejares.com>

EDUCATION

---

|   |               |
|---|---------------|
| Graduate School of Business, Stanford University                      | Expected 2024 |
| PhD Candidate in Political Economics                                  |               |
| University of Rochester   | 2017          |
| BA in Economics (with Honors) and Mathematics, magna cum laude |               |

RESEARCH INTERESTS

---

Political Economy, American Politics, Public Policy, Politics of Agriculture

PUBLICATIONS

---

Anzia, S., Jares, J. & Malhotra, N. (2022). Does Receiving Government Assistance Shape Political Attitudes? Evidence from Agricultural Producers. American Political Science Review, 116(4), 1389-1406. doi:10.1017/S0003055422000314

MANUSCRIPTS UNDER REVIEW

---

Jares, J. & Malhotra, N. Policy Impact and Voter Mobilization: Evidence from Farmers' Trade War Experiences. Revise and resubmit at American Political Science Review.

SELECTED RESEARCH IN PROGRESS

---

Jares, J. Holding on to High Cotton: How Narrow Economic Interests Resist Retrenchment.

Jares, J., Primo, D., Ross, D., & Yang, S. Ideology, Gender, and Sorting in Top Management Teams: A Latent Class Analysis.

AWARDS AND HONORS

---

|  |           |
|--|-----------|
| Dee Graduate Fellowship, Bill Lane Center for the American West                    | 2023-2024 |
| Doll Graduate Fellowship, Stanford Institute for Economic Policy Research          | 2023      |
| American Democracy Fellowship, Stanford Center for American Democracy              | 2023      |
| Humane Studies Fellowship  | 2018-2023 |
| Jaedicke Merit Award, Stanford Graduate School of Business                         | 2018-2019 |
| Laurin Taylor Frisina '06 Ventura Award, University of Rochester Political Science | 2017      |
| William Morse Hasting Essay Prize (1st Prize), University of Rochester Economics   | 2017      |
| John Dows Mairs Prize, University of Rochester Economics                           | 2017      |
| Elected to Phi Beta Kappa, University of Rochester                                 | 2017      |

TALKS

---

Holding on to High Cotton: How Narrow Economic Interests Resist Retrenchment

- American Political Science Association, Annual Meeting in Los Angeles 2023
- Frontiers of Money in Politics Research APSA Pre-Conference 2023

Policy Impact and Voter Mobilization: Evidence from Farmers' Trade War Experiences

- American Political Science Association, Annual Meeting in Montreal 2022
- Stanford GSB PhD Alumni Conference 2022
- Democracy and Polarization Lab, Stanford University 2021

Does Receiving Government Assistance Shape Political Attitudes? Evidence from Agricultural Producers

- American Political Science Association, Annual Meeting in San Francisco 2020

TEACHING INTERESTS

---

Political Economy, American Politics, Data Science and Politics, Money in Politics, Statistical Inference and Political Methodology, Politics of Agriculture and Food

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

---

|  |                         |
|--|-------------------------|
| Teaching Assistant, Power in Finance, Stanford MBA     | Winter 2021             |
| Teaching Assistant, Ethics in Management, Stanford MBA | Fall 2019, 2020, 2021   |
| Python Workshop Instructor, University of Rochester    | Fall 2016 & Spring 2017 |

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

---

|   |              |
|---|--------------|
| Reviewer at Journal of Politics ( $\times 2$ ) | 2020         |
| Co-Creator of Aletheia, Preprints with Peer Feedback  | 2022-Present |

NON-ACADEMIC EMPLOYMENT

---

|  |           |
|--|-----------|
| Economic Consultant, Edgeworth Economics                   | 2017-2018 |
| Economic Consultant Intern, Edgeworth Economics            | 2016      |
| Regulatory Studies Research Intern, Mercatus Center at GMU | 2015-2016 |

SOFTWARE

---

Python, R, Stata,  $\text{\LaTeX}$ , Geopandas, PyTorch